TODAY'S READINGS

First Reading - Daniel 12:1-3: I, Daniel, heard the Lord's message about a time of great trouble. Michael will protect us, and the wise and just will shine forever.

Responsorial Psalm - Psalm 16: R. You are my inheritance, O Lord! You, Lord, are my portion and comfort, always at my side. You guide me to life and joy, keeping me from decay.

Second Reading - Hebrews 10:11-14, 18: He offered one sacrifice for sins and sat at God's right hand. This single offering has made the consecrated perfect forever. Now, no more sacrifices are needed.

Gospel - Mark 13:24-32: Jesus predicts upheavals in nature and the heavens as signs of the Son of Man's imminent arrival. He emphasizes the certainty of His words and their endurance beyond earthly existence, stating that only God knows the exact timing.

Heaven and earth shall pass away:
but my words shall not pass away.

Today, we hear about a time of great distress and the final judgment. Our actions and choices matter, especially regarding their impact on others.

In the second reading we learn about Jesus' sacrifice. Jesus offered one sacrifice for sins and then sat down at the right hand of God. His sacrifice made us holy, and there is no need for further offerings for sin. This should fill us with gratitude and give us confidence in our salvation.

In the Gospel Jesus speaks about His coming during a time of great tribulation, but He also assures us that His words will never pass away. Jesus' words give us hope and strength. Even when things seem chaotic and uncertain, we know that He is in control. His promise to return gives us a future to look forward to. Our world is only temporary. It serves as a stop on our way to God.

The liturgical year ends this weekend. Life has many endings and new beginnings, but God remains constant and eternal.
