be subordinate to one another out of Reverence for Christ.

Paul gives counsel for maintaining domestic peace and happiness. I'm sure that many people have taken out of context the line about wives being submissive to their husbands. In fact, the first sentence says they both should be subordinate to one another. (Eph 5:21) And even more important is the last verse: Paul says he is actually talking about Christ and the Church.

Paul mentions the main example: Christ handing himself over for her (the Church) refers to his death on the cross. He made it even clearer for them the night before he died: He washed the feet of his disciples and told them to do the same for each other. (Jn 13:14-15)

Subordination is a mutual quality in marriage. Paul explains that marriage is the best example of "love your neighbor as yourself." He quotes Genesis 2:24 about two people becoming one body. So your love for yourself now becomes love for your spouse. If you want to have a good marriage, love each other as Christ loves you. J. S. Paluch Co.

Today's Gospel is the conclusion of the Bread of Life discourse in John. The people who were frenetically following Jesus, crossing the lake twice to pursue him, eating the bread he miraculously provided, are now puzzled by Jesus' continued insistence that he is the Bread of Life come down from heaven, and that his words are "Spirit and life," They can go with him no farther, so they gradually drift away. . The Twelve, however, stay with Jesus. What else could they do? Who else offers such a profound vision of human life? Peter expresses it well: "Master, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life."

So Jesus said to the twelve, "You do not want to go away also, do you?"
 Simon Peter answered him, "Lord, to whom shall we go? You have words of eternal life. We have believed and have come to know that you are the Holy One of God." Jn 6:67-69
